Dauphin County has begun work on its next long-range Comprehensive Plan, which will help to guide land use and transportation planning in our communities for the next decade.

To start the process, we've created a brief, 10-question public survey to determine what matters most to the people who live, work or visit Dauphin County and care about its future.

This input will help us to set priorities and identify key issues such as housing, transportation, economic development, land use, and environmental sustainability.

It will also ensure that as we shape the Comprehensive Plan, we will reflect community values and guide decisions that affect the county's growth and quality of life.

With all of this in mind, we're asking each of Dauphin County's municipalities to share the survey with residents -- via email, the web, social media, newsletters, etc. -- to engage the public and encourage participation.

Sincerely,

Jerry Duke
